It Would Be Impossible For One Not to Find a Suit or Dress to Please at $20 or $25

Most unusual, indeed---

For there's goodness knows how many, and they're all different—all attractive—all most decidedly charming!

And as for the styles, materials and trimmings-Well, we'll leave you to judge those for yourself!

The suits—one wouldn't want any better! Poplins, gabardines, Poiret twills. serges, taffetas, and silk and serge combinations!

One at $25 of Poiret twill is quite mannish looking and would please the tailored miss immensely. Perfectly plain with the exception of green silk faille for the collar end edge of lapels.

And so they go-some with long coatssome short. And should you desire one that is fitted or loose-belted or plain-you'll find them, too, and in great variety.

And the dresses—one can't say too much about them! Just as dear, quaint and old-fashioned as they can be.

Charmeuses, taffetas, crepes de chine and crepes meteor. The fullness, the ruffles, the frills, the little hoop and cape effects and the dainty lace trimmings, all remind one of the little maid of 1830.

BATTLE CRUISERS SUPREME ON SEAS

Our Proposed Vessels to Surpass British Type In Speed.

CARRY EIGHT 14-INCH GUNS.

Usefulness Has Been Vividly Illustrated In the Few Engagements They and relieved the city of the denger. Have Been In Since the War Began. Now Form First Line of Offense and Defense In English Squadron.

The first authentic description of the new battle cruiser that is shortly to be built for the United States navy has appeared. Details of this new type of ship have up to the present time been lacking. Now details are presented which may be regarded as accurate.

We are told that, profiting by the lessons taught by the engagements fought off the Falkland islands and in the North sea, this new battle cruiser of ours is to have a speed somewhere between thirty-two and thirty-five EPISCOPAL CHURCH-Services 2nd knots. Obviously engines of enormous and 4th Sunday night at 7:45 at the Library. Sunday School at 3 p. m. Rev. Geo. C. Abbitt, Rector. 000 horsepower must be generated. 000 horsepower must be generated. Every additional knot means an inordinate increase in engine capacity.

Eight Fourteen-inch Guns. Our unbuilt and unnamed battle cruiser will have eight fourteen-inch guns and twenty five-inch guns. first blush it would seem as if the Queen Elizabeth's fifteen inch guns must carry the day if these two ships were ever opposed. But our ordnance officers have made the statement that the new fourteen inch guns which they have developed are the superior of the fifteen inch guns at present used in the British navy, or statements to that

The armor protection of the new United States battle cruiser is to be twelve inches amidships and four inches at the ends. The Queen Elizabeth has thirteen and one-half inches of steel on the water line, ten inches above that and a top layer of eight and one-quarter inches. It is here probably that we had to make our sacrifice in order to gain the engine power and, therefore, speed. But if speed will enable our ship to pick out her own position and our guns have the greater range the loss in armor protection is more than compensated for. The Lion and Tiger are battle cruisers in the true sense of the word. Our ship will easily outdistance them. In tonnage there is not much to choose. for they displace 30,000 tons as against the 31,000 tons of our vessel. In armament we will be far superior. The Lion and the Tiger each mounts eight fourteen-inch guns, which are probably inferior in range to the guns of equivalent caliber on the proposed American ship. The Tiger has twelve six-inch guns and the Lion sixteen four-inch guns. But weapons of such small character play no part in a long range engagement and are serviceable chiefly for the repulsion of torpedo boats.

To prove the battle cruiser has re deemed its unfortunate early reputation it is only necessary to point to the activities of this fighting craft since he war began. Battle cruisers brought Von Spee's career to a full stop, and they were the only big ships which succeeded in getting into the North sea

So it is not surprising that these monsters, the biggest fighting machines afloat, are idolized by their officers and men. A squadron at the opening of the war, battle cruisers now form the nucleus of Great Britain's first line fleet of naval offense. There are many new ships among the light cruisers attached to this squadron. Virtually every battle cruiser in it has had its "baptism of fire," and the sailors manning the craft show the poise of vet-

Fastest Fighting Fleet.

When the mist lifted for a few minutes as a correspondent stood on the control bridge of one of the British battle cruisers the fastest fleet capable of actual offensive operations ever gathered together appeared in view There were more than 100 vessels in the fleet, arranged in squadrons, with battle cruisers, surround by a screen of faithful destroyers, wn to the humble colliers

It is accepted as a matter of course that should the German warships come out this fleet will be the first unit of the British navy to get into action be fore the superdreadnaught battleships reach the scene; hence its claim to be the first line of offense, with the superdreadnaughts second and the predreadnaught battleships forming a third line reserve.

Increase in the size of the big guns does not worry the officers of the bat tle cruisers, who say that, since their 13.5 inch guns can sink a battleship as far as the range can be found, any bigger guns would add to the weight of the ship and reduce the available space for turrets without sufficient corresponding advantage. These officers talked about the much heralded German seventeen inch gun in a speculative way, but they did not show any great concern.

L. H. & St. L. Shops at Cloverport Are Destroyed

Cloverport, Ly., March 14.-Fourteen years to the day after Cloverport was burned to the ground, fire, which caused a loss of from $150,-000 to $200,000, destroyed all the shops of the Louisville, Henderson & St Louis railroad and threatened the entire west end of the city.

The wind, which had been blowing from the river over the shops of the city, turned shortly after 2 o'clock

Between 250 and 300 men were employed at the shops.

The fire started in the the round house and had gained good headway when discovered. This building, in which seven or eight engines were housed, was the first to go. The crew was unable to move the rolling stock and the big engines, valued at $15,000 each, remained in the shop They probably are not totally destroyed, but even if they can be repaired and returned to active service, the damage wilt be greaf.

Twenty-five passenger coaches are included in the rolling stock that was destroyed.

Other buildings in the group which comprise the only shops operated by the Henderson Route, are a car repair shop, water tanks and other smaller buildings, including toolhouse storage sheds and similar houses.

St. Patrick's Church

First of Its Name In America Was Predecessor of Cathedral.

Old St. Patrick's in New York was the first church in America to receive the name of the Irish saint. Its cornerstone was laid in 1809, on June 8, and the completion of the building was delayed by the war of 1812. The centennial of the laying of the cornerstone was celebrated about seven years ago. The church was dedicated on May 4, 1815, though the steeple and sacristy had not been built. Up to that time the cathedral had cost $90,000. The first diocesan synod was held in the church on Aug. 28, 1842, when Bishop John Hughes was the head of the diocese. It was at this time that religious intolerance was at its height in America, and at one time the members of Mr. Patrich H. Whalen, Sr., died the parish were called on to arm them-

Ireland's Color and Arms. An inquiry, asking what are the real national color and flag of Ireland, was in Dublin, and the following is a copy

Office of Arms—Dublin Castle.

I am directed by Captain Nevile R. Wilkinson, Ulster king of arms, to inform you that the national color of Ireland is and always has been blue (that is, heraldic blue, ultramarine; not, as some people have thought, sky blue). Green never was the national color of Ireland. The national color is taken from the ground of tional color is taken from the ground of the arms. In the case of Ireland it is azure, a harp or (heraldic word for gold) stringed argent (heraldic word for silver). Thus blue is the color of Ireland.

Scotch Should Revere St. Patrick. Scotchmen of the present day, say some Irishmen, are false to their history in the small respect they show to St. Patrick's day. St. Patrick is as much their patron saint as he is the patron saint of the Irish. All through Mr. Whalen was a man of gener- land. These names were given to ous impulse, and never forgot the children at baptism; they are seen toranger, even tho a beggar, never were called after them, and they are the two countries.

HIS day we dedicate to Erin's saint And place it under Patrick's jurisdiction. About the date I've heard a legend quaint, But know not if 'tis history or fiction.

In either case it may be worth retelling, To its acceptance nobody com-

It's difficult, when doctors differ so, To reach impartially a fair decision But neither side here had to yield a fraction.

They found a date that gave both satisfaction.

Since all men know how hard it is to find A compromise where no one feels defrauded

It proves he had a most uncommon mind Who chose the date which every one applauded.

He put an end to all the fuss and blether By simply adding eight and nine together. -George B. Morewood.

TANLAC SECURES HIGHEST RECORD

Quality Tells the Interesting Story of This Extraordinary Medicine

No other medicine ever has approached the wonderful record of Tanlac. Its success is a romance of the staid business world-a success built on merit so unusual that in just nine months after Tanlac had been introduced, one million bottles had been sold to men and women who had learned its superior qualities for the relief of ailments of stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere. These are the men and women who judge intelligently and impartially, and the result always is a Tanlac verdict. Upon the indorsement of many thousands of well known people rests the great and secure popularity of Tanlac.

Those who take Tablac always return for the second bottle because the first few doses estatlish its merits. Tanlac is so efficient and pure, it at once makes known its value in derangements of the stomach, indigestion, upset nerves and

The Booster and the Killer

Nearly every town has two classes of citizens—the boosters and the killers. All the world loves the former, but even the devil shuns the latter.

Dayton, Ohio.

Be a booster!
The town booster is known by everybody, for he is always doing and saving something to push his town and its people along. He is the man who makes the towr. The killer is the one who destroys it.

Be a bonster!

The booster nevel loses anything by his boosting. He boosts other people and other people boost him, and through this combination of boosting great things are accomplished. It is only the The booster hevel loses anykiller wholfalls of his ownweight, of his own words, of his own deeds.

Be a booster!

The booster is like a ray of sunshine on a cloudy day. He brightens everything and everybody around him. His geniality, his cheerfulness, his energy and his good deeds breed hope in the bosom of despair. His words and acts aid others and ennoble himself. But the killer only kills-just kills, kills, kills!

Be a booster.

This town has many boosters, and you all know them, you admire them, you respect them. And your respect is more precious to the genuine booster than is, your gold. It is only the killer who stands alone, without friends, without hope for the future.

Be a booster!

SAY BULGARS FEAR DEAD.

Servians Are Pouring Into Italy Now. Many Leave Their Wives at Home to Care For the Farms, Confident of Returning to Their Native Country

There is pathetic faith in the thousands of Servian refugees who are pouring into Italy seeking work and

"We shall be home again next April," they say simply. What is more, they believe it. Most have come without a cent. Their possessions they left at home-hidden. You would be astonished to hear where they lie-away from the gaze of Bulgar or German. They tell you, in that simple way they have, of huge pieces of bacon they have buried underneath "middens." Their most precious things-money, for instance—they have hidden away in the cemeteries between graves. "The Bulgars are afraid to touch the dead," they explain.

In general, they fear the Bulgars more than they do the Germans. "The Germans are calculating; the Bulgars are wild beasts," they say.

Under Enemies' Feet. All along that calvary between Belgrade and Monastir are hidden the earthly possessions of these peoplemoney boxes, salted meat, barrels of sirup, coal and flour. They have chosen the beaten track on purpose, because the more frequented a road is the less likely are the invaders to search the earth under it, and such hiding places are easiest found-next April. With their peasants' memories they will remember the exact spot They have not hidden a single treasure under their homes or churches. Some have chosen the middle of the desolate market place, between two trees or the very edge of the muddy, unpaved street or near a horse pond, because all "ho enter that village or town will use that nond, and not one man will think to dig the trodden soil around it for hidden treasure, be it francs or flour. More often they chose open country, on their own little farms, in some ditch marked by a big stone or on which the shadow falls first at sun-

"We Shall Find Them Again." "Now the snow has come and covered it all up. But in April the snow will melt, and we shall find our things again," they say, with the quiet cheerfulness of the Slav.

Many families have left some member behind to let the invaders sweep over them like waves of a tempestuous sea, leaving them where they found them, and most of those who have stopped behind are women. The men will be wanted to rejoin that army that is gathering again in Al-Women keep the secret of this hidden treasure and may be trusted not to touch it till the family comes back. And a Serb leaves his wife behind in preference to his mother or daughter. The last two might be ill er twenty is like another man, fit for the camp and ready to fight too. S few of the Servian refugees now in Italy have brought their wives. "They are watching things at home," they tell you confidently.

'And the husband knows that the wife will set to and till the soil the moment it is free of the invader.

State superintendents of public in struction, college professors, principals and business men joined in a discussion of the subject "Thrift" at a meet ing of the national council of education at Detroit.

S. W. Straus, a Chicago banker, who is president of the American Society For Thrift, dealt with the problem in "The most vital question in America today is individual preparedness," he war, but individual preparedness for anything that may come-individual preparedness to live useful, steudfast posterity.'

Mr. Straus declared that one person of every ten who dies in and of the "Statistics show that in the United States there are only 108 who save money out of every 1,000 population," he added. "This compares with 554 in Switzerland."

The only way to lay the foundation to begin today teaching thrift in our schools, he said in conclusion

Rat Squads Are Organized. Ferrets are the latest to be enlisted on the side of the entente powers. The British government has just closed a contract for 800 ferrets to be sent to Flanders to kill the enormous numbers of rats infesting the British trenches. "Rat squads" are being organized. The demand for ferrets is becoming so great the price has risen from 25 cents

First Duty of a City.
A city is in reality a kind of apparatus or mechanism consisting of fixed places in which to live, work and be amused, with means of trans-portation of products to and from desired points.

The first duty of the city is to furnish a free means of access, belong-ing to the public, to the private property of each individual. Such avenues of communication in the rural districts are called roads and are widely separated, but in cities they are multiplied and called streets. It must always be possible, and it is possible, for a citizen to take to the highways and reach without interference the land of any other citizen throughout the United States,

$100,000 Worth of Men's and Boys' Clothing, Hats and Furnishings One-Fourth, Third Slaughtered--Reductions One

The career of the Progress Clothing Co., one of Evansville's oldest, largest and best known clothing stores is about to come to a close. Financial difficulties have forced us to discontinue. We must sell out our stocks, dispose of our fixtures and close our doors forever. And furthermore we must do it in a hurry. There is just one way to accomplish this. That is to cut prices to the quick—to offer bargains so great that the public will rush to secure them.

It is ruthless, merciless, seemingly useless sacrifice, but there is no way of avoiding it, and everybody within 100 miles of Evansville should reap the benefit. Never have you seen anything like it. It is stupendous, amazing, almost unbelievable. But it's true. Read every word that is printed below. It's all facts. Come—bring your family—see for yourself—tell your friends—bring them too. Chas. C. Prouty ON THE SHIPPER AND THE RAILROAD.

Chas. C. Prouty, while a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in discussing the relation of the Commission to the shipper and the railroad, said:

"The original purpose of the Interstate Commerce Act was to protect the shipper. The most eminent man who ever sat on the Interstate Commerce Commission was its first chairman, Judge Cooley, and very early in the history of that commission Judge Cooley published an opinion in which he said that the business of the commission was not to enable railroads to maintain reasonable rates, but to protect shippers against the imposition of unreasonable rates. Now I think since Judge Cooley published that opinion conditions have

I think that today it is just as much the duty of the Commission to see that the railroads are given reasonable rates which will yield to them a fair return, as it is to see that no unreasonable rate is charged the shipper, and I believe this is in the highest interest of the shipper himself, "At the basis of all right thinking about this subject lies the fact, very often stated, very little apprehended, that the railroad is a public servant. The property is private property, but the thing done is a governmental function. It is done by the government in most European countries. Now, if the government is the master, and if the railroad is the servant, the servant cannot properly discharge its duty unless the master, instead of hampering and ouraging, sees fit to assist and foster

"You understand that if the business of this country is to develop the railroads must develop also. You also understand that in the case of many railroad systems, and perhaps most railroad systems, their business is developed up to the point where but little additional business could be taken on, with the present facilities.

"Now where is the money to come from with which this is to be done? Where did the money come from that built the railroads of this country? It came from the private investor; it came from exactly the same source that the money comes which operates your business, which operates every other business. And why was that money put into railroads? It was put into railroads because the people who put it into those railroads believed that it would pay a return. This money which must be had by the railroads of this country has got to come from this one source-private investors. In the past, railroads have been able to borrow whatever their necessities required. stocks have been a favorite form of investment. Railroad bonds, next to municipal bonds, have sold higher than any other securities. Now, if that is to continue, it must be because the railroads make such earnings as will

Here Is The Plan---

The weeks of March 27 to April

8 have been set aside for the national celebration of the Spring Dress. Mother Nature is donning her new garb. You will want to dress up too. Evansville stores are preparing special displays for Dress Up Weeks. Come and see how advantageously you can buy and how pleasantly you can spend your time in Metropolis of Southern Indiana

The Evansville Retail Merchants' Rebate Association will pay one mile round trip railroad, traction or steamboat fare for each dollar's worth of goods purchased from one or more of its members, to the extent of one full round trip fare from any point.

An additional one percent will be paid on each dollar's worth purchased in excess of the amount required to obtain one round trip fare.

TO ILLUSTRATE: A person coming 50 miles and purchasing $50 worth of goods will get one round trip fare. A person coming 50 miles and burchasing $75 worth of goods will get one full round trip and 1% on the extra $25 and so on for any additional amount above the fare.

All that is necessary is to ask for a rebate book in the first store where you make a purchase. Have the amount of your purchase entered in the book there, and then have the amount of other purchases entered in the book in each store where you buy.

Then when you are through with your shopping, take your rebate book to the office of the Merchants' Rebate Association, which is at the N. W. Bryant Piano Co, 226 Main St, between Second and Third, show your return ticket or a receipt from the ticket agent, and your fare will be refunded.

No member of the Association is permitted to refund fares or parts of fares in his store direct. All fares are refunded at the rebate office, and no rebate is allowed where total purchases do not amount to $10 or more.
